Who Will Benefit from This Course?

This course provides a thorough overview of coloproctology in just three days. Participants will delve into anatomy, physiology, clinical approaches, diagnostic challenges, and decision-making in various scenarios through the series of 25 videos provided to all the delegates before the course begins.

The curriculum will also cover surgical options, essential instruments, and recent advances in the field. Engaging workshops will focus on staplers, lasers, stoma care, and lower gastrointestinal endoscopy.

Fresh graduates will gain valuable insights into coloproctology disorders, while practicing professionals can update their knowledge of newer techniques. Students pursuing super-specializations in gastro-surgery and surgical oncology will find this course an interactive way to master their lower GI curriculum in a concise format.

Finally, successful candidates will receive the distinguished Fellowship of the Association of Colon and Rectal Surgeons of India (FACRSI), providing access to academic resources, conferences, workshops and opportunities for national and international fellowships.
